

What turns me on

Dr Lynda Wee, 45

CEO of retail and training consultancy, Bootstrap

 Do or die, I now must have the iPod touch with me. Listening to my music whether I'm on my daily jogs or on the plane means I never feel alone.

Before I had the iPod, which I bought last year, I used to lug around some 20 CDs to play at the retail training workshops I conduct. Just so that I can play the right music to make the right point.

Now, I just transfer, from my PC, the pop, jazz and classical tunes of my favourite singers like Michael Buble, Patrizio Buanne and Britain's Got Talent's Paul Potts, pack in 1,000 songs or so, and I'm good to go.
